

LOCAL ELKS TO BALTIMORE

Roy D. Barnum and George Wallace to Leave At End of Week.

Roy D. Barnum, past exalted ruler of El Paso lodge, No. 187, R. P. O. Elks, and president of the state association of Elks, will probably leave Sunday for points in the state en route to Baltimore, where he will represent El Paso lodge in the national convention, George Wallace, member of the grand judiciary committee of the national organization, will leave Saturday, going by way of Chicago. He also will officially represent the local lodge.

To Transact County Business.
Mr. Barnum will go first to San Antonio and Austin, where, as county auditor, he has some county business to transact. He will then go to Waco, Hillsboro and Waxahatchie on state association business, thence to Dallas, where, on July 7 he will preside at a meeting of officers of the state association called by him to consider some business matters. The next day he will join the Elks delegation leaving Dallas for Baltimore on a special train. The national convention will be held July 16-17.

Barnum's Turn Next Year.
The State Association of Elks will be represented in the national convention by E. B. Prince of Waxahatchie, past president. Next year, Mr. Barnum, as past president, will represent the state association.

Earlier in the year it was planned by El Paso lodge to send the Quila Sals club to Baltimore in a large body, in order to properly advertise El Paso, as was done a year ago in Los Angeles. The situation on the border has become so acute, however, that few desired to leave at this time, and it is probable

MAPLE MAY BE PAVED BY DAY

Commissioners May Thus Avoid Calling for Bids; Want Good Road to Fort.

Maple avenue from Iyer street to Fort Bliss is likely to be improved by day labor.
County commissioner J. M. Walling, of Sierra Blanca, brought up the matter at a brief session of the court Tuesday afternoon. "The road to Fort Bliss should be paved at once," he said. "There are hundreds of soldiers at Fort Bliss now and thousands are coming. They are for our protection, and we should give them a good road from the fort."

Clifford Favors Good Road.
After adjournment, commissioner Clifford stated that he was in favor of putting down as good a road as Fort Bliss has. He did not indicate what material he favored. He thought the county commissioners could do the work by day labor and avoid the court of appeals decision requiring the court to call for bids, to ask for competitive bids.

Judge Pool also expressed himself favorably to doing something at an early date towards bettering the roadway. The hearing of raising of valuations has been completed, and in compliance with the law the court Tuesday afternoon adjourned as a board of equalization.

that Mr. Barnum and Mr. Wallace will be the only El Paso representatives in Baltimore. Mrs. Barnum leaves Friday for California.

WESTERN ROAD SELLS FOR SONG

Drained the Gould Lines Until They Could Stand Expense No More.

San Francisco, Calif., June 28.—The Western Pacific railroad, hawking from the auction block today at Oakland for $18,000,000, was flung over the mountains from Salt Lake City to the Pacific by George J. Gould as the tax link in his faded dream of a mighty ocean-to-ocean railroad. Actual construction and equipment cost $75,000,000 but since the day work began on it in 1905 until it went into the hands of receivers, Frank G. Drury and Warren Olney, Jr., in March, 1915, the Western Pacific swallowed up $44,000,000. Gould's dream vanished bit by bit as the great railroad system he had hammered together withered into receivership before the last spike was driven on the Western Pacific in 1909.

Contest Is Bitter.
The Denver and Rio Grande bound by guarantee, poured millions into the boneless trunk line railroad to meet annual interest charges of $2,500,000 until last March when it gave up and refused to meet the semi-annual interest on the $50,000,000 first mortgage Western Pacific bonds.

Three days later, upon the petition of the Equitable Trust company, of New York, trustee of the first mortgage bonds, were appointed by Judge William C. Van Fleet of the United States district court, and a few months later there began a bitter contest for immediate control of the road, which ended with complete victory for the Equitable Trust company and the majority bondholders when federal Judge Maurice T. Deussen fixed the price of the Western Pacific at $18,000,000.

The fight revolved around the question of adjudicating the responsibilities of the Denver and Rio Grande, Gould line, before or after the forced sale of the Western Pacific. Receivers, however, were appointed by Judge Van Fleet of the United States district court, and a few months later there began a bitter contest for immediate control of the road, which ended with complete victory for the Equitable Trust company and the majority bondholders when federal Judge Maurice T. Deussen fixed the price of the Western Pacific at $18,000,000.

Judge Is Assailed.
The Equitable Trust also sought to disqualify Judge Van Fleet and when they failed by legal action, he voluntarily withdrew, leaving it to Judge Deussen. Intervening bondholders, those who did not hold their bonds with the re-organization committee, charged a conspiracy to let the Denver and Rio Grande escape its obligations and declared that the debt should not be sold for less than $10,000,000. The Equitable Trust and the re-organization committee asserted that receivership would be most profitable if sale of the road was not permitted immediately and judgment had against the Denver and Rio Grande separately.

Suits filed in the New York federal courts by the Equitable Trust, but ended by Judge Van Fleet, whose decision was overruled by the higher court, are now pending for an account and judgment of the Rio Grande's obligations which it is said will be pushed out with a view of sparing receivership of that road.

R. OLOZAVA'S ARM BROKEN WHEN AUTO MOTOR "KICKS"

Romero Olozava, a Mexican youth, sustained a broken arm Tuesday afternoon when he attempted to crank a Ford automobile with a "kicky" motor in front of a supply station at El Paso street. The injured boy was carried to the emergency hospital, where the arm was set by Dr. C. A. Reinmund. Olozava was later sent to his home on Madera street.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared champoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is just plain mulitised coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

IS ARRESTED FOR GIVING BOY BEER FROM A CAN

Arturo Gallardo, a laborer, was arrested behind a saloon in an alley on Fifth street Tuesday night by officer G. Pera on a charge of giving beer to a minor. Gallardo was offering beer contained in a large tin can to a small boy in the alley, according to the report of the officer.

IGNACIO FLORES IN JAIL CHARGED WITH CARRYING PISTOL

Ignacio Flores, a laborer, was arrested at Third and El Paso streets Wednesday morning by patrolman Harry Cherry and confined in the city jail on a charge of disturbing the peace and carrying a pistol. Ignacio, when approached by the officer, flourished a pistol, it is alleged, and dared him to make the arrest.

GETS 50 DAYS IN JAIL ON CHARGE OF BEATING WIFE

Convicted of beating his wife severely, Jesus Figueroa was sentenced to serve a fine of $25 in the city jail Tuesday afternoon by Judge Charles Pullock of the corporation court. Testimony of officer Frank York, who made the arrest of Figueroa at his home on Ninth street, showed that the man had struck his wife several times with a heavy stick, and had then attempted to choke her. The testimony of the officer was denied by Figueroa, but his wife with several bruises on her face, also appeared in court.

FOR HIGHWAY TO SAN DIEGO

Col. Ed Fletcher, of San Diego, Tells Commerce Directors of Project.

Urging a closer relationship between El Paso and San Diego for the promotion of a southern highway Col. Ed Fletcher, a director of the world's fair exposition and one of the founders of the San Diego chamber of commerce, made a brief talk before the board of directors of the local chamber of commerce Tuesday afternoon. Col. Fletcher was enroute to his home from Washington, D. C., where he had been for the past month, and decided to stop off in El Paso for a few hours to visit his friend, secretary, Malcolm A. Fraser of the chamber, and incidentally to boost San Diego and the exposition which is in its second year in that city.

Calls on Washington Officials.
While in Washington Col. Fletcher visited a number of prominent officials concerning the good roads movement, and was impressed with the idea of establishing a southern highway between El Paso and San Diego. "I want you to know that San Diego is strong for the movement, and El Paso will not lack cooperation in our city," he said.

Prices for Soil Products Show.
To make the desired appropriation of $50 to be used in the purchase of suitable prizes for the best grown products an exhibit during the International soil products exposition in the city met with the approval of the directors, and secretary Fraser was given authority to make the desired appropriation.

Opportunity for Mexican Labor.
A letter to Brig. Gen. George Bell, Jr., from the Lower California Agricultural association at Calexico, Cal., which had been referred to secretary Fraser, was read to the directors concerning the great need of Mexican help to plant cotton from the fields in Lower California. The letter stated that if the United States government could arrange transportation for the large number of families that are at present arriving in El Paso from the interior of Mexico, plenty of work could be found in the cotton fields, as there was a great need of "choppers" at present and many other persons needed.

To Fight Insurance Rate.
At request of the Austin, Texas, chamber of commerce an appropriation of $25 toward the payment of lawyers employed to fight a raise in the insurance rates of the state, was allowed by the directors.

A communication from Ralph E. Twichell, one of the directors of the El Paso chamber, asking that the El Paso chamber forward a part of an appropriation of $1000 toward defraying the expenses of an exhibit from New Mexico was read to the directors by secretary Fraser, who stated that to his knowledge no such appropriation had been made. Feeling that there was some error in the belief that the El Paso chamber had appropriated the sum, secretary Fraser was authorized to ask for further information on the alleged appropriation, as the books of the chamber did not record anything of the appropriation.

COUNTRY CLUB TO BE IN VALLEY

Members Decide in Favor of Site in One of Valleys for New Club Building.

The El Paso Country club has not yet selected the site upon which to build its new club house and lay out an 18 hole golf course, but it has decided that the new home will be in the valley, rather than out on the mesa. This was the net result of the meeting which was held Tuesday night at the Toltice club. President H. S. Potter presided, and the attendance was one of the best that any meeting of the club has ever brought out. President Potter announced, in opening, that John M. Wyatt, president of the Toltice club, had extended all the privileges of the club to the country club members for the evening, and that they might "sign" all the cards they liked.

Report Considered.
The purpose of the meeting was to consider the report and recommendations of the committee on the building site. The report of the committee, which included the minority report of Peyton J. Edwards, had been printed and mailed to all the members, and the report was not read at the meeting. A motion to adopt the report was tabled.

It was practically impossible, as a matter of justice to all concerned, it was stated, for the membership to adopt the report of the committee, though the investigation had been, for the reason that original offers have been amended and valuable new offers made, since the report of the committee was filed. W. F. Payne and Z. T. White both amended their original offers, making them much more liberal. W. L. Tooley offered 150 acres of his farm in the upper valley. W. H. Austin offered a large site just east of Fort Bliss.

Site Considered.
Early in the discussion of the several sites, the forces aligned themselves for the mesa and for the valley. The main objection to going on the mesa appeared to be that the cost of maintaining a grass course would be prohibitive. A strong point for the mesa was scored by several of the speakers, that the club ought to be located not too far distant from Fort Bliss, in order to make it easily accessible to the military officers, so as to continue to receive their patronage.

Debate Friendly.
The debate was altogether friendly, though it was heated. The members exhibiting the greatest eagerness to get into the fray. At times there would be half a dozen or more on the floor, trying to secure recognition of the chair. There were motions, and motions to table these motions, amendments to motions, amendments to the amendments, substitute motions, points of order and points of information. The good deal overlooked was a point of personal privilege.

Valley Site Wins.
The decision in favor of the valley, as against the mesa, was a good majority, but the motion failed to carry to make the decision unanimous. There was a feature also of the motion to decide between upper and lower valley. Under motion which was carried by a big majority, the board of directors is to serve as a committee to make a thorough investigation of all the valley sites now offered or that may be offered, to ascertain as much time as may be required to make complete investigations; to appoint an auxiliary committee, if one should be needed; to report to the club for the club to make a recommendation in the matter, 30 days notice of the meeting to be given the membership.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 8 o'clock, with the hall-room filled. It was 11 o'clock when the vote was taken which pledged the club to a valley site.
